Log line:

I'm both rebel teen and beauty queen.
Think: Lily Collins, Katherine Langford, and Alicia Debnam-Carey.

The Run
Down:

You know that edgy sarcastic chick who practically lives in her leather jacket and hides it all under the façade of the sweet, popular girl next door?.... that's me. Originally from Pittsburgh and with a family in finance, an actor was the last thing anyone wanted. Much to their chagrin, I booked a guest star on Nickelodeon's Supah Ninjas and never looked back.

CASTABILITY

Sheet

Sarah Walker (18-20) fragile, quirky, intelligent. No one ever would have guessed that the school's new banksy protégé was Sarah. She was on student council, dance team, and had a 4.0. But something snapped when her best friend died this summer. The graffiti and images mysteriously showing up on the walls were beginning to make local news. No one would ever figure it out, and by the time they did the year would be over. Right? Wrong. Caught in the thick of grief, Sarah learns what it takes to live and love again.

Think: Katherine Langford, Shailene Woodly

Hope Reed (20s) brave, thoughtful, loyal. From the age of twelve, Hope was providing for her mom and sister. Their small farm wasn't easy to run, but it kept them going. That of course was until the infected started to take over the country. With all dreams of med school dashed and up against the unknown, Hope finds herself uniquely qualified to become the leader she was always born to be.

Think: Alicia Debnam-Carey, Jennifer Lawrence

Melanie Van Doren (18-20) Classic, fierce, witty, it girl. She has the perfect life, fully funded with all of daddy's money. What more could a girl want? Funny you should ask... Secrets built her castle, but truth just walked through the front door, and (mic drop) he isn't an ugly duckling anymore. Stuck with the war between her heart and her ambitions, Mel is finally priced out of her own kingdom.

Think: Lily Collins, Lucy Hale.
